

Write a haiku that expresses your commitment to press forward with a steadfastness in Christ or the blessings that will come from doing so. Haikus are three lines long: the first has five syllables, the second has seven syllables, and the last has five syllables. If poetry feels like something you have to press through, a great first line could be: "Press forward in Christ" (five syllables).
